1	P-820	25-07-14	27-07-14	National Conference of the Presiding Officers of NDPS Courts	For the purpose of providing speedy trial of the offences relating to narcotic drugs and psychotropic substances, Government of India established specialized NDPS courts through enactment in 1985. These courts are meant for enhancing the capacity of our judicial system to deal with issues that affect the society deeply viz. social health, the area of narcotics, drugs. This programme, first in the series of programmes for special courts, will bring together the presiding officers of the NDPS courts from across the country. While this programme is expected to provide an opportunity to understand and appreciate functioning of these courts, it will provide a forum for the presiding officers to introspect, to share their experiences and also to express the major challenges and constraints faced by these courts in implementation of NDPS Act.	Judges presiding over NDPS Courts	2 nominations each from High Courts of Bombay, Allahabad, M.P. Patna, Gujarat, A.P., Rajasthan, Gauhati &amp; Madras 1 nomination each from other High Courts
2	P-821	25-07-14	27-07-14	National Conference of the Presiding Officers of Family Courts	The second programme in the newly introduced series of programmes meant for special courts is focused on family courts. Ensuring speedy disposal of cases undoubtedly, has been one of the important purposes underlying establishment of family courts in India. In addition to above, another important objectives underlying establishment of family courts has been (i) to ensure congenial atmosphere to deal with the matters relating to marriage, divorce, child custody, adoption etc. and (ii) to mitigate the harshness of adversarial court process while dealing with family matters. To what extent family courts have been able to achieve the objectives with which they were brought into existence? Has it become possible to mitigate harshness of adversarial process in resolving family disputes? What are main challenges and constraints faced by the family courts in realizing the objectives of speedy and effective remedies to women in dealing with family matters? This programme, which invites presiding officers of family courts from different parts of the country, seeks to search answers for the above-mentioned questions. This conference will provide a forum to presiding officers of family courts to share views and express their problems with their counterparts. The aim is also to make them aware of the public perception of this special category of courts and to offer an opportunity to discuss ways and means to improve performance of these courts to meet the public expectations and to realize the objectives underlying their establishment.	Judges presiding over Family Courts	2 nominations each from High Courts of Bombay, Allahabad, M.P. Patna, Gujarat, A.P., Rajasthan, Gauhati &amp; Madras 1 nomination each from other High Courts

3	P-822	25-07-14	27-07-14	National Orientation Programme for Additional District Judges	Aiming to strengthen judicial system in our country, NJA nurtures the belief that quality of any system is dependent on the quality of people who man the system. Based on the above understanding, it has been consistent policy of the NJA to organize programmes which focus on capacity building of individual judges in order to ensure enhancement of the individual performance of judicial officers. NJA has been organizing orientation programme for newly appointed Additional District Judges (ADJs) for last many years. These programmes offer a unique opportunity to judges of the district judiciary to meet their counterparts from different parts of the country. The orientation programme for ADJs is a forum for district judiciary judges to share experiences, discuss problems, conduct introspection, and above all to develop solidarity with judicial officers across the nation. This programme aims to orient and motivate district judiciary judges to play important role to ensure independence of judiciary at all tiers. It also provides an unique opportunity to district judiciary judges to meet their counterparts from different states, which can a go long way in fostering solidarity amongst judges	Judges appointed to the DJ/ADJ level within the past three years preferably with at least ten years of service remaining in the judiciary	3 nominations each from High Courts of Allahabad, Bombay, Gujarat, M.P., Madras &amp; Patna. 2 nominations each from A.P., Delhi, Karnataka, Kerala, Orissa, P&amp;H &amp; Rajasthan. 1 nomination each from other High Courts
4	P-823	1/8/2014	3/8/2014	National Conference of Judges of District Judiciary on MACT Cases	MACT cases assume a lot of importance in India because of the disparate practices in awarding compensation in motor accident cases by different courts in country. The aim of this conference is to make the judges deliberate on the ways that can be adopted to deal more effectively with the cases relating to motor accidents.	Judges working in the relevant area.	2 nominations each from High Courts of Bombay, Allahabad, M.P. Patna, Gujarat, A.P., Rajasthan, Gauhati &amp; Madras 1 nomination each from other High Courts
5	P-824	01-08/14	07/08/14	National Orientation Programme for Newly Appointed Civil Judges (Junior Division)	While the higher judiciary is face of the national judicial system in international circles, district judiciary is face of the judiciary for the common man of this country. It is the judges at the lowest tier in the judicial hierarchy who are the backbone of the judicial system and have to bear the burden of major bulk of litigation. This programme is aimed at capacity-building of judicial officers at the lowest rung of judiciary - civil judges (junior division). Catching them young, a programme for junior division judges provides an opportunity to young judicial officers to share experiences and views with judges from across the country in the beginning of their careers. This programme aims to facilitate better appreciation of the role and responsibilities of judicial officers as members of independent judiciary in a constitutional democracy.	Civil Judges (Jr. Division) within two years of completion of SJA Training (where Judges of this category are not available the junior most Civil Judges may be nominated.)	6 nominations each from High Courts of Allahabad, Bombay, M.P.&amp; Patna 3 nominations each from High Courts of A.P., Gauhati, Gujarat, Karnataka, Madras, P &amp; H. &amp; Rajasthan. 2 nominations each from High Courts of Calcutta, Delhi, Jharkhand, Kerala &amp; Orissa 1 nomination each from other High Courts.

8	P-827	23-08-14	24-08-14	National Conference of Newly Elevated High Court Judges	High Courts in our judicial system enjoy a very important and special position. On the one hand, they have the powers of superintendence over district judiciary while on the other hand, endowed with writ jurisdiction, they have the onerous responsibility of contribution in development of law in our country and of protection of rights of people. The future of this system undoubtedly depends on the judges who are newly elevated to the High Courts and who have to go a long way in their tenure as High Court Justices.  This National Conference is an opportunity for newly elevated High Court judges to discuss various complex issues relating to their day and day functioning and also the larger issues relating to justice with experienced sitting and former Chief Justices and judges from the Supreme Court.  This Conference also provides an occasion for newly elevated judges to meet their counterparts from different high courts and exchange experiences and views. 10	P-829 to P-838	06-09-14	07-09-14	Programme for Model Judicial Districts	Demand for extensive reforms in our judicial system are often heard and in the set up of a district judiciary, one finds lack of cooperation and coordination amongst the judicial officers inter se as well as between the judges and ministerial staff. Object of achieving a litigant friendly environment in the courts for building a better justice delivery system is possible with the coordinated efforts of the judges and ministerial staff. As an experiment, NJA has decided to select few districts from selected states, and provide the judges of different cadres and ministerial staff a common platform so that they can develop a road map for creating harmonious and user friendly environment in the courts, under the guidance of the experienced Resource Persons. The object is to make the courts of these districts a role model for the courts of other districts in the state.		A separate information note will be sent to the High Courts
11	P-839	06-09-14	07-09-14	National Conference of State Judicial Academies on Key Issues and Challenges in Judicial Education	With an aim to strengthen judicial education in our country, NJA has been playing a lead role in developing a national comprehensive framework for judicial education and research, which can be used by the state judicial academies. In order to ensure that the above process can become more participative and representative NJA has been organizing meetings with directors/representatives of state judicial academies. These meetings have offered opportunities to reflect on the conceptual issues relating to judicial education and also to develop clarity with respect to aims and objectives of judicial education in our country.  The first meeting of SJAs in this year will undertake critical analysis of the activities conducted at SJAs in the previous calendar year. It also aims to look for the means that need to be adopted in the direction of further strengthening judicial education in our country. 12	P-840	06-09-14	07-09-14	National Conference of High Court Judges on "Public Law"	Interpreting and implementing laws relating to the relationship between the state and an individual, between states and between different organs of the state is the exclusive domain of the higher judiciary. The main objective of this conference is to address key issues related to public law litigation in recent times. The conference will serve an opportunity to the participants to reappraise themselves on the changing scope of writ jurisdiction and public law litigation. The constitutional courts have to perform an overwhelming task of adjudicating the complex issues because of recent changes and this Conference will make a modest attempt to throw some light on these issues. One of the major changes that have affected almost every area in the domain of public function is the new economic policy of India. The entry of the private agencies in hitherto known public functions have tremendously transformed the nature of litigation approaching constitutional courts which are posing complex issues affecting justice administration. This has implications in many key areas of public law including safety to environment and people, disputes involving essential services like water and electricity, rights of the marginalized groups concerning land and livelihood and the rights of laborers. The increasing voices for the accountability of the public institutions have also brought the issues of corruption to the constitutional courts which not only include the prayer for direction to order the authorities for prosecution but also to monitor the functioning of Central Investigative Agencies. The programme will therefore focus on the role of High Courts in ensuring the accountability in governance through judicial intervention.	Hon'ble Judges of the High Court	Number as determined by the Chief Justice

15	P-843	12-09-14	14-09-14	National Conference of Judges of the District Judiciary on "Adjudication of Issues relating to women and children"	In the series of programmes aimed to focus on key areas of litigation, this program is focused on the litigation of issues relating to women and children. During past few decades the number of cases involving women and children has undergone an unprecedented increase and has become a key area of litigation in our country. While ensuring justice to victims of crimes and tackling violence is a major task of the judiciary, cases relating to women and children pose peculiar challenges and demand special sensitivity from judicial officers. This programme also aims to identify and analyze the constraints and challenges faced by judges in dealing with cases and implementing laws relating to women and children. It also aims to draw attention towards new developments in law in this area and the approaches of the Higher Judiciary while dealing with issues relating to women and children. It is expected that the above discussions and interactions with experts from different fields will go a long way in sensitizing the judicial officers towards this issue.	Judges working in the relevant area.	2 nominations each from High Courts of Bombay, Allahabad, M.P. 19	P-847	10-10-14	12-10-14	National Conference of Judges of District Judiciary on "Access to Justice"	The Indian legal system has a substantial body of laws which aims to strengthen access to justice in our country. The Constitution of India cast a duty upon the State to promote the welfare of people and to ensure access of all citizens to justice. It particularly provides that the State shall ensure that no citizen is denied opportunities for securing justice by reason of economic or other disabilities. The district judiciary through District Legal Services Authority and Taluk Legal Services Committee can play a pivotal role in enhancing access to justice at district and taluk level. An overview of the powers and functions of legal services authorities at district and taluk level and the role of district judiciary in strengthening access to justice would be done in the conference. The conference will focus on the role of judges and accused's right to legal aid which can ensure fair trial to him/her. The role of legal services authorities and courts will be analyzed in the background of Supreme Court's initiatives for protection of the rights of victims. Discussion will be done to identify various barriers in the rehabilitation of the victim(s) and the means by which such barriers can be overcome by the district judiciary. Reducing delays in proceedings is another major component of enhancing the access of people to justice and discussion will be done on this issue. The conference will also pay attention to alternative dispute resolution and lok adalats as other dimensions of access to justice as these methods of dispute resolution provide relief to litigants in a short span of time. So far few states in the country have established gram nyayalayas to enhance access to justice at rural level and sharing of experience of those states in this area will be done in the programme. 20	P-848	11-10-14	12-10-14	National Conference of High Court Judges on "Role of Court in Protection of Social &amp; Economic Rights"	Last two decades of judicial activity of higher judiciary in our country shows that the constitutional courts are not hesitating judicial enforcement of economic, social and cultural rights. Intertwining the philosophy of Directive Principles of State Policy, bedrock of social and economic rights in to the concepts of life, liberty and equality-the foundations of Fundamental Rights, is a major jurisprudential achievement of Indian Supreme Court of yester decades. Though government whole heartedly do not favour judicial enforcement of these rights it enacted laws to recognize and promote social and economic rights and these laws are facing stiff resistance from those whose interests are affected and who expect non interference of governmental authority in their commercial activity. Though the government did not give up it's resistance completely it is now understood that the High Courts and Supreme Court play role in enforcing the social and economic rights. Social and economic conditions in our country demand for judicial enforcement of many more social and economic rights. However, there are two legitimacy concerns. It is argued that judicial enforcement of social and economic rights offends the constitutional doctrine of separation of powers and that the judges can not decide polycentric issues which have implications for budgetary and policy decisions which are considered to be prerogatives of executive arm of government. This situation calls for larger debate on this issue. Objective of this conference is to provide a platform for the judges from constitutional courts to delve deep in to above mentioned issues relating to social and economic rights and judicial enforcement of such rights.	Hon'ble Judges of the High Courts	Numbers as determined by the Chief Justices
21	P-849	11-10-14	12-10-14	National Conference of Principal District Judges on "Court Administration and Management"	In the judicial system of our country while the High Courts have the power of superintendence and control over district judiciary, Principal District Judges bear the responsibility of effective management of the courts in order to ensure optimal levels of performance. It is the PDJs who have the responsibility to distribute workload amongst different courts and also to ensure that judges are able to deliver qualitative and timely justice. Given the ever increasing pendency and arrears in all the courts and also considering the increasing number of cases being filed, there has arisen a strong need for effective management techniques. NJA has planned two special conferences for the Principal District Judges from across the country to share their experiences with respect to the management techniques that have been adopted by them towards achieving effective administration of courts in their respective districts.  This conference will also provide a forum to principal district judges to discuss their problems and search for remedies in consultation with management experts and senior High Court and Supreme Court judges.	Principal District Judges with at least five years service remaining in the judiciary	3 nominations each from High Courts of Allahabad, Bombay, Gujarat, M.P., Madras & Patna.  2 nominations each from Delhi, P&H & Karnataka.  1 nomination each from other High Courts.

23	P-851	17-10-14	19-10-14	National Conference of Judges of District Judiciary on Just Sentencing: Policy and Practice	Once the guilt is proved punitive dilemma begins. Judges working in any criminal justice system needs scientific understanding of "punishments" and how to decide the quantum of punishment. Perspectives on punishment have been changing from time to time and accordingly sentencing practices in a given legal system change. Fair criminal justice system requires just sentencing of criminals. Discretion given to judges on sentencing being wide, they need adequate knowledge of current sentencing practices to take decisions on punishments. Decision on quantum of punishment depends on a number of factors including the personal traits of the convict. This results in disparity in sentencing of the convicts of similar crimes. Judges need expertise to exercise the discretion in sentencing, allowing the disparity and at the same time maintaining uniform pattern. This is a delicate task and this programme offers a venue for the judges to discuss on various issues relating to sentencing which enables them to sharpen their skills on judging the quantum of the sentences. Resource persons from academia are expected to strengthen the theoretical perspectives of the judges and expert Judges will deal with pragmatic considerations. Objective of this programme is to sharpen the skills of judges in taking decision on sentence by providing enough theoretical perspectives and deliberating on pragmatic requirements.	District Judges equivalent with at least ten years service remaining in the judiciary	2 nominations each from High Courts of Bombay, Allahabad, M.P. 26	P-863	07-11-14	09-11-14	National Conference of the Presiding Officers of Vigilance/State Anti-corruption Bureau Courts	The Supreme Court declared that society free from corruption is the right of every citizen. The State and Central Agencies have been fighting against corruption and a number of cases are being brought for adjudication by the special judges established under the Prevention of Corruption Act, 1988. Number of contentious issues such as sanction to prosecute, presumptions under the Act etc. in this branch of law need to be discussed. The objective of the programme is to fortify the individual capacity of the judicial officers functioning as special judges in dealing with the tough cases of corruption. The participating judges will also deliberate on the means for expeditious disposal of cases and sentencing patterns in corruption cases. 27	P-864	08-11-14	09-11-14	National Conference of High Court Judges on "International Law and Environmental Law"	International law consists of rules which confer rights and impose duties on the individuals, which govern the relations between individuals and international institutions, between the states and also between the states and international institutions. It is the law of an organized world community. International law governs these relations through various international instruments such as treaties, declarations intended to achieve certain broad objectives. The signatories to these agreements are required to follow in principle the basic norms laid down in the Treaties and if required the domestic laws are amended to suit to the needs of the international treaties. International law encompasses many areas like trade, human rights, crimes against humanity, environmental law, space law etc. The approach of the Indian judiciary towards international law is constantly evolving. Indeed there are number of cases wherein the norms of international law have been applied in interpreting the domestic laws. After beginning of liberalization process India witnessed several new pieces of legislations and the court found new ways and means of interpretation in consonance with the international commitments. The focus of this conference would be to identify and to understand the International legal norms and their application in to domestic jurisprudence. The participating High Court Judges would get an opportunity to interact with sitting and retired Supreme Court judges and experts in the field of international law.  Further, India being a party to the international conventions for protection of environment, Judges of the constitutional courts need to deliberate on recent development in this branch of law. This conference aims to provide new insights in this specialized field and also will raise issues for discussion.	Hon'ble Judges of the High Court	Number as determined by the Chief Justice

43	P-889	16-01-15	18-01-15	National Conference of Judges of District Judiciary on "Commercial and Economic Laws"	The process of adjudication of commercial and economic disputes has its own impact on the economic development of society. The delay in adjudication not only affects the individual rights but also the economy as a whole. In any system the performance of the courts in resolving the commercial and economic disputes shall be faster and economical, but unfortunately our country witnesses a very slow adjudication and long delays occur because of various factors. The past two decades witnessed enormous privatization of production and services. The means of production by and large went in to the hands of private entities. The changed economic policies led the country to new horizons of comforts and to some extent living standards of Indian citizens improved. The adverse effect of privatization however can be seen in depriving of the rights of the consumers and common people. In this context the courts need to act proactively to enable the little Indians to reap the benefits of liberalized economic policies. This conference also provides a forum for the judges to meet their counter parts from across the country and to have an in-depth discussion on various aspects concerning the Commercial and Economic adjudication. 47	P-893	23-01-15	25-01-15	National Conference of Judges of District Judiciary on "Access to Justice"	The Indian legal system has a substantial body of laws which aims to strengthen access to justice in our country. The Constitution of India cast a duty upon the State to promote the welfare of people and to ensure access of all citizens to justice. It particularly provides that the State shall ensure that no citizen is denied opportunities for securing justice by reason of economic or other disabilities. The district judiciary through District Legal Services Authority and Taluk Legal Services Committee can play a pivotal role in enhancing access to justice at district and taluk level. An overview of the powers and functions of legal services authorities at district and taluk level and the role of district judiciary in strengthening access to justice would be done in the conference. The conference will focus on the role of judges and accused's right to legal aid which can ensure fair trial to him/her. The role of legal services authorities and courts will be analyzed in the background of Supreme Court's initiatives for protection of the rights of victims. Discussion will be done to identify various barriers in the rehabilitation of the victim(s) and the means by which such barriers can be overcome by the district judiciary. Reducing delays in proceedings is another major component of enhancing the access of people to justice and discussion will be done on this issue. The conference will also pay attention to alternative dispute resolution and lok adalats as other dimensions of access to justice as these methods of dispute resolution provide relief to litigants in a short span of time. So far few states in the country have established gram nyayalayas to enhance access to justice at rural level and sharing of experience of those states in this area will be done in the programme. 57	P-912	13-03-15	15-03-15	National Orientation Programme for Additional District Judges	Aiming to strengthen judicial system in our country, NJA nurtures the belief that quality of any system is dependent on the quality of people who man the system. Based on the above understanding, it has been consistent policy of the NJA to organize programmes which focus on capacity building of individual judges in order to ensure enhancement of the individual performance of judicial officers. NJA has been organizing orientation programme for newly appointed Additional District Judges (ADJs) for last many years. These programmes offer a unique opportunity to judges of the district judiciary to meet their counterparts from different parts of the country. The orientation programme for ADJs is a forum for district judiciary judges to share experiences, discuss problems, conduct introspection, and above all to develop solidarity with judicial officers across the nation. This programme aims to orient and motivate district judiciary judges to play important role to ensure independence of judiciary at all tiers. It also provides an unique opportunity to district judiciary judges to meet their counterparts from different states, which can a go long way in fostering solidarity amongst judges	Judges appointed to the DJ/ADJ level within the past three years preferably with at least ten years of service remaining in the judiciary	3 nominations each from High Courts of Allahabad, Bombay, Gujarat, M.P., Madras &amp; Patna. 2 nominations each from A.P., Delhi, Karnataka, Kerala, Orissa, P&amp;H &amp; Rajasthan. 1 nomination each from other High Courts

59	P-914	20-03-15	22-03-15	National Conference of Judges of District Judiciary on "Criminal Law and Human Rights (Development of Law)"	Administration of criminal justice and protection of human rights in the context of protection of Human Rights Act, 1993 has assumed a lot of importance. NJA proposes to identify the areas of conflict and convergence in this area. High Courts have the twin responsibility, first to prevent violation of human rights in administration of criminal justice at the level of district courts, to develop human rights jurisprudence and issue guidelines for use by the lower courts in the country. Effective administration of justice requires that Judges of district judiciary keep themselves abreast with developments in law. The conference will critically assess recent national and international developments in this area and will also look at the contribution made by the High Courts and the Supreme Court during the past few years in developing human rights jurisprudence in the country.	District Judges equivalent with at least ten years service remaining in the judiciary	2 nominations each from High Courts of Bombay, Allahabad, M.P. 60	P-915	20-03-15	22-03-15	National Conference of Judges of District Judiciary on "Just Sentencing: Policy and Practice"	Once the guilt is proved punitive dilemma begins. Judges working in any criminal justice system needs scientific understanding of "punishments" and how to decide the quantum of punishment. Perspectives on punishment have been changing from time to time and accordingly sentencing practices in a given legal system change. Fair criminal justice system requires just sentencing of criminals. Discretion given to judges on sentencing being wide, they need adequate knowledge of current sentencing practices to take decisions on punishments. Decision on quantum of punishment depends on a number of factors including the personal traits of the convict. This results in disparity in sentencing of the convicts of similar crimes. Judges need expertise to exercise the discretion in sentencing, allowing the disparity and at the same time maintaining uniform pattern. This is a delicate task and this programme offers a venue for the judges to discuss on various issues relating to sentencing which enables them to sharpen their skills on judging the quantum of the sentences. Resource persons from academia are expected to strengthen the theoretical perspectives of the judges and expert Judges will deal with pragmatic considerations. Objective of this programme is to sharpen the skills of judges in taking decision on sentence by providing enough theoretical perspectives and deliberating on pragmatic requirements.	District Judges equivalent with at least ten years service remaining in the judiciary	2 nominations each from High Courts of Bombay, Allahabad, M.P. 61	P-916	21-03-15	22-03-15	National Conferences of High Court Judges on Contribution of the Supreme Court and High Courts to Development of Law in 2014 - Constitutional Law and Administrative Law	Litigation relating to Constitution and service matters forms a major bulk of litigation in High Courts. While High Courts are looked upon by the people of India for ensuring governance in accordance with the constitutional principles and values, these courts have played an important role in developing constitutional as well as service jurisprudence in the country. These courts have to serve the functions of appellate authority in large number of service matters. This Conference aims to analyse the contribution of the Supreme Court and the High Courts during the past few years in the development of law in the area of constitutional law and administrative law. It will be a forum for High Court justices to share the contribution made by their respective High Courts with the Supreme Court judges and with their counterparts from across the country. 66	P-921	10-04-15	12-04-15	National Conference of Judges of District Judiciary on "Law &amp; Technology (IPR and Cyber Laws)"	Development of Science and technology and new innovations go a long way in enhancing comfort and prosperity for human life. However it also opens new vistas of crime. Emergence of ICT technologies have also opened up new areas of litigation. A good chunk of future litigation is expected to be relating to rights over intellectual property. Using of cyber technology for committing as well as detecting crime is also increased. Legal system of our country including our procedural laws have undergone significant changes to keep pace with technological developments. However, implementation of these laws poses serious challenges for the judiciary. This programme aims to keep judges updated with new developments in this field. Thus a programme on these two different disciplines is designed to achieve the objective of making Indian judges prepared to tackle the matters relating to Intellectual Property rights and Cyber forensics.	Judges working in the relevant area.	2 nominations each from High Courts of Bombay, Allahabad, M.P. 69	P-924 to P-933	18-04-15	19-04-15	Programme for Model Judicial Districts	Demand for extensive reforms in our judicial system are often heard and in the set up of a district judiciary, one finds lack of cooperation and coordination amongst the judicial officers interse as well as between the judges and ministerial staff. Object of achieving a litigant friendly environment in the courts for building a better justice delivery system is possible with the coordinated efforts of the judges and ministerial staff. As an experiment, NJA has decided to select few districts from selected states, and provide the judges of different cadres and ministerial staff a common platform so that they can develop a road map for creating harmonious and user friendly environment in the courts, under the guidance of the experienced Resource Persons. The object is to make the courts of these districts a role model for the courts of other districts in the state		A separate information note will be sent to the High Courts
